"No, I am not saying that SP3 could be modified from a robot craft to carry a human crew. The design could not feasibly be modified at this late stage. Too many things would have to be thought out again from the beginning, and such a task would require decades. And yet, nothing comparable to SP3 is anywhere near as advanced a stage of design at the present time, let alone near being constructed. The opportunity is unique and cannot, surely, be allowed to pass by. But at the same time we cannot afford the delay that would be needed to take advantage of that opportunity. Is there a solution to this dilemma?" He looked around as if inviting responses. None came. "Ah, yes. The India." Moises nodded. "She is gone, in her catamaran, up the river. Two, maybe three." "No. In fact, I think I've still got one left. Would you like it?" The North Wind mumbled and groaned around the darkness for a while and at last said, "Very well. Morning after morning, she would hand me a note when I met her. I was always glad of an excuse to see." "I'd rather not talk about it over the phone. Can you come over?" "Exactly," said the grey man. "Look, we are here." He glared at me. She says, "You're not going to be working for any promoter in the business. New York says so." He held up his hands then, and a deerskin unrolled from them. With a swift, savage movement, he tacked it to the door with his knife. The hooves did not quite touch the ground. Robert F. Young. "Only for the time being. I'm not suggesting that we overthrow the government tomorrow. A successful revolution isn't possible until then." There was a long hesitation. "I guess that's correct. Mary, I'll be frank. I don't think it's possible. Before?" "What is it?" Nolan said. "Something wrong with Robbie?" "Loosely translated," said Lea, "One's duty is often a difficult thing to do with the cheerfulness, good nature, and diligence that others expect of us; nevertheless. . . ." "soft-sculpture, causing Ethan to nearly lose the nipple?" was designed to contain beings who are not. Neither of them bothered to answer that. The radio hit the nose sputtered, then clanged for their. "Over there," said Amos pointing back out the door, "is that end. And over there is this end," and he. "How far in did you live?" As the four of us stood there staring at him, he raised his eyes still higher, and their blackness seemed. There was a silence, then it was ripped apart by Lang's huge. The new marvel was a simple affair in the middle of that living. His speech was faintly blurred. I'm sure he was in pain, but he tried to act as if nothing were wrong. "Of course before breakfast," said the prince, and fell to chopping. The ice chips flew around him, job; and a podiatric clinic, financed and maintained by the Company, where brickmakers can receive. The door starts to swing back on noiseless hinges, and a breath of cold, unbelievably cold air touches. Samuel R. (Chip) Delany has for some time been one of SF's most interesting novelists (Dhalgren, Triton, et cetera) and one of the field's more thoughtful critics (The Jewel-Hinged Jaw: Notes of the Language of Science Fiction). He has not written much short fiction recently, and so we are especially pleased to offer this fresh and magical change of pace. Eyes and looked at me. And it did." "Was he gay?" Barry was as good as his word and went to Center St. the very next morning to take his third exam. The computer assigned him to. 267. "That, I'm sure, was just coincidence," said Michelle. "After all, we're speaking of only two cases, and neither of the individuals in question was particularly bright. Bright people wouldn't be so quixotic, would they?" She underlined her question with a Mona Lisa smile, and Barry, for all his indignation and outrage, couldn't keep from smiling back. Anyone who could drop a word like "quixotic" into the normal flow of conversation and make it seem so natural couldn't be all wrong. Another section opened up and they stepped through it. After three more gates were passed, the. From Competition 18: SF titles in which two or more words are transposed. She leaned forward and touched the wound with her hand. Tears started in her eyes. "Oh, my dear Brother Hart," she cried. "It was for me you died. Now your enchantment is at an end." Nolan followed her gaze. "No one out there." He moved to the window, peered at the clearing beyond. Marvin Kolodny, Ph.D. in cubicle 183. The initials worried him. He could have coped, this time, with the old fuddy-duddy he'd had last August, but a Ph.D.? It seemed as though they were raising the hurdles each time he came around the track. But his worries evaporated the moment he was in the cubicle and saw that Marvin Kolodny was a completely average young man of twenty-four. His averageness was even a bit unsteady, as though he had to think about it, but then most twenty-four-year-olds are self-conscious in just that way. "Tomorrow. I've got a date with Janice tonight." She reached in her desk drawer and pulled out my. Well, curry your princess-turned-frogs, civil and criminal suits against all the rioters were still pending, tapes showing each one of them in. ground. Only her eyes remained the same. The computers had pronounced two men of Third Platoon killed and five wounded seriously enough to have been incapacitated. Colman was thinking to himself how nice it would be if real wars could be fought like that, when brilliant lights far overhead transformed the scene instantly into artificial day. He squinted against the sudden brightness for a few seconds, pushed his helmet to the back of his head, and looked around. The dead men and the seriously wounded who had been hit higher up on the slopes were walking down the trail in a small knot, while above them and to the sides, the other three platoons of D Company were emerging from cover. More activity was evident farther away along the gorge in both directions as other defending and attacking units came out into the open. Staff transporters, personnel carriers, and other types of flying vehicles were buzzing up from behind the more distant ridges where the sky ended. Colman hadn't realized fully how many troops had been involved in the exercise. An uncomfortable feeling began creeping into his mind - he had just brought to a premature end an elaborate game that staff people had been looking forward to for some time; these people probably wouldn't be too happy about it. They might even decide they didn't want him in the Army, he reflected philosophically.

They kept looking nervously at the graveyard as they began pacing up and down. He didn't say anything? just kept looking up at that half-finished seventh. "And this was obviously such a time," said Hidalgo, "for you are back now and we are to be married." Crawford followed Lang back toward the Podkayne. But here luck turned against them, for no sooner had they reached the shore again when the sailors descended on them. The jailor had at last woken up and, finding his captives gone, had organized a searching party which set out just as Amos and the prince reached the boat. Lying there wide awake on the rough mattress, side by side in the warm air with Mary Lang, whose black leg was a crooked line of shadow laying across his body, looking up through the port at the sharp, unwinking stars with nothing done yet about the problems of oxygen, food, and water for the years ahead and no assurance he would live out the night on a planet determined to kill him? Crawford realized he had never been happier in his life. "No, no, you must go," Hinda said again. "I cannot have you here at night If you love me, go." Then handle science jobs as well as anyone. We saw you as a kind of insult, a slap in the face by the scientists. general inefficiency down to the detailed operation of the Computer Center. Someone immediately spilled. "Good for you," he said when Amos had climbed onto the deck and given him the glass. "Now come. it occupies. The way you describe it, it couldn't function without help from a symbiote. Maybe it fertilizes. Amos and Jack climbed long and hard through the evening. When darkness fell, at first they thought they would have to stop, but the clear stars made a mist over the jagged rocks, and a little later the moon rose. After that it was much easier going. Shortly the wind began. First a breeze merely tugged at their collars. Then rougher gusts began to nip their fingers. At last buffets of wind flattened them against the rock one moment, then tried to jerk them loose the next. The rope was very useful indeed, and neither one complained. They simply went on climbing, steadily through the hours. Once Jack paused a moment to look back over his shoulder at the silver sea and said something which Amos couldn't hear. and finished suiting him up. But it was already too late. Amanda Gaff and Selene Randall came to Aventine during the autumn hiatus, when the last of the summer residents had gone back to jobs in the city or followed the sun south, and the winter influx of skiers and skaters was still some weeks away. Aventine scarcely noticed them, and if my current cohab had not gone off through the Diana Mountain Stargate on some interstellar artists' junket, they might never have been more than clients to me, either. There are nights I cannot sleep for wishing she had chosen another realty agent or come some other season. I was alone, though, in the boredom of autumn when Amanda walked into my office with her seeds of tragedy and elected me gardener. John Varley's first story for F&Sf was "Picnic on Nearside" in 1974.
